

MR. WALKER IN HIS HOMETOWN

Last Tuesday I went to my hometown to spend the day as usual. It's a small quiet seaside town close to the city that I work and live in. I always look forward to Tuesdays because it's my day off so I can rest and have a good time. Last Tuesday I woke up early, drove about 30 km and reached my parents' cottage at about 7 o'clock in the morning. When I opened the gate of the garden, my father was picking some tomatoes and cucumbers for breakfast. Their dog, Princess was jumping up and down and waving her tail as she was overjoyed to see me. I petted her on her head and then hugged my father. Then we went into the house. My mum was cooking my favourite cheese omelette and setting the table when I entered the kitchen. She was happy to see me. We sat at the table and had a family breakfast. Then I went out for a stroll around the town. The sun was shining brightly and it was quite warm.

I decided to visit the town centre first. As I was walking down Rose Street, I saw my old friend, George. He was trying to change one of his car tyres because it blew out. I stopped to help him. Mr. and Mrs. Davies were passing by and approached us to ask what had happened. I think they were coming from the supermarket because they were carrying a few bags in their hands. After we finished replacing the new tyre with the spare one, George thanked me and drove off. So, I went on walking. When I reached the town center, I went directly into the florist's. The only florist in our town, Mrs. Evans was preparing a huge wreath for a funeral and her assistant was spraying some plants with water. I said good day to them and ordered a nice bouquet of lilies for my mum. I sat on a chair and waited. I was drinking a glass of tea which they offered when Mrs. Evans finished my bouquet. I took it and left. Then I went into the souvenir shop next to the post office to buy gifts for my mum and dad. I was thinking and looking at the items when the shop owner came and asked if I needed any help. He showed me a beautiful tea set for mum and a silver pocket watch for dad. They were gorgeous and their prices were reasonable so I bought them and left the shop. I walked to the town park to sit on a bench and rest for a while. The park was very crowded as usual and I started watching people around me. Sue and her sister, Ann were rollerblading while their parents were doing yoga on their mats. Little Edward was holding an empty ice cream cone and crying as he had dropped his ice cream on the ground. Mr. Lee was sitting under a tree and reading his newspaper. Some boys were playing soccer on the grass. Mrs. Taylor was feeding the birds with crumbs of bread and her husband, Larry was taking photographs. Diane was talking to her son, William angrily as he had pulled a cat's tail. Peter and his sister were running around the park to keep healthy and fit. While I was watching people, I realised that I was missing my hometown more and more each day. I thought I could move back one day. After a short time, I went back home. When I arrived my dad was taking a nap on the sofa and my mum was watching a documentary about polar bears on TV.

WHO BROKE THE WINDOW

Teacher: Oh my god, what happened here? Look at this mess. Who broke this window? Everything was fine just before the break.

Nancy: I don't know Miss Wilson. I was out in the school canteen with Jennifer. We were drinking coffee and eating chocolate muffins.

Teacher: What about you, Donald? Where were you during the break and what were you doing?

Donald: Well, I was in the garden with some boys. We were playing hide and seek together.

Teacher: How about you, girls? Were you all in the classroom during the break time?

Dorothy: No, Miss Wilson. I was in the library during the break. I was looking for a biography book about Thomas Edison, but I couldn't find it.

Amanda: I wasn't in the classroom, either. I was in our maths teacher, Mr. Allen's office. I was talking to him about the maths project. I needed some help with the presentation.

Teacher: Oh, I see. Stephen, Larry and Katherine?

Stephen: I was crying on the bench under the tree in the garden because I fell down while I was playing tag with my friends and hurt my knee.

Larry: I was running back home during the break, Miss Wilson. I forgot to take my science notebook this morning and I went back home and took it.

Katherine: I was in the music room with a few friends. Our music teacher, Mr. Hall was playing the piano and we were listening to him.

Teacher: Were you sitting in the classroom, Kevin?

Kevin: No, I wasn't. I was in the school lab during the break. I was helping my younger brother and his classmates with doing an experiment.

Teacher: How about you, Samantha and Bradley? Where were you and what were you doing?

Samantha: I was drawing a picture of the pine tree and the birdhouse near the playground.

Bradley: I was preparing a poster about nature and endangered animals in the library with a group of friends. We were trying to find some effective slogans.

Teacher: That's so nice, Bradley. I like the idea. I can help you with it if you want. How about you, Frank? Were you out during the break?

Frank: No, I wasn't, Miss Wilson. Well, I know it's not right, but Ryan and I was playing baseball in the classroom during the break and I broke the window. I'm so sorry, Miss Wilson.

Ryan: Yes, teacher. We are very sorry. We can have the window glass replaced if you wish.

Teacher: OK, Frank and Ryan. I think I'll need to talk to you and your parents for it.

Mary's Saturday

Last Saturday was very nice and busy for Mary. She got up very early in the morning and prepared a nice breakfast for herself. She ate fried eggs, pancakes, honey, butter, jam and drank a full glass of orange juice. After breakfast, she took a shower, brushed her teeth and put on some make-up. She wore her favourite dress and shoes and left home. The weather was sunny and warm so she walked to the shopping mall. She met her best friend, Jane there and they went in and out of the shops together. Mary bought some clothes for herself, a nice watch for her dad and a beautiful scarf for her mum. Jane bought a pair of sandals but she didn't buy any clothes for herself because she thought she didn't need any. After shopping they were both tired and hungry, so they went into a restaurant. They both had beef steak, rice and salad and talked about what to do next. They finally decided to watch a drama at the cinema. Mary bought the tickets and Jane bought some popcorn and fresh orange juice.

The film was very touching so they sometimes hugged each other and wept silently. After the film Mary said goodbye to her friend and visited the bookshop to have a look at the latest novels. She found a crime novel by her favourite author and bought it. Then she realized that it was already 3.30 p.m. and she had to hurry up for her piano course. She took a taxi and met her music teacher just on time. It was 6 p.m. when she finally got home. She immediately put on her pyjamas and watched some TV. Then she went to the kitchen and helped her mum prepare the dinner. Mary made a green salad and set the table while her mum cooked. Soon her father came home and they ate dinner. After dinner Mary gave her mum and dad their presents. They were both happy because her father needed a watch and her mum was amazed by the scarf's colours. They hugged each other tenderly. It was 9 p.m. when Mary brought her chess set from her room. She played well but her father won the game. Then she went to her room and listened to some music and surfed the Net. It was almost 11:00 p.m. when her mother came with a glass of milk in her hand and told her that it was late. She drank the milk and brushed her teeth. She went into her bed and started reading the novel that she bought. It was so absorbing that she could not leave it. She read and read until she fell asleep.

SLEEPING BEAUTY

Once upon a time there was a king and a queen. The queen had wanted a child for a very long time but couldn't have one.

One day the miracle finally happened and all the bells in the kingdom started ringing to announce the birth of a young princess. The king and the queen organized a huge celebration for the little girl's christening. All the seven fairy godmothers arrived to the royal party to give the little angel their gifts. As they were special guests, the royal family had prepared a gift for each of them. Laid on the table in front of each of the godmothers was a gold case, containing a knife, fork and spoon - all made of pure gold and set with rubies and diamonds.

As the guests were enjoying the celebration, the door opened with a crash. It was an old, hump-backed fairy, wearing black rags. The king immediately ordered to bring her gold tableware, but he couldn't give her a gold case, because he had only had seven of them made. The old woman thought that they didn't respect her enough and hissed some curse towards the newborn. Luckily, sitting next to her was a young and a very farsighted fairy, who noticed how fiercely the old woman was looking towards the baby. When the fairies left the table, she hurried to hide herself behind the curtains.

Soon the fairies gathered around the baby and one after another started giving their gifts in the form of a spell. The youngest of them wished for the princess to grow beautiful, the next one wished for the princess to have a kind and generous soul, the third wished for the princess to do everything with grace. The fourth wished for the girl to dance as light as a feather, the fifth one wished, "May she sing like a bird" and the sixth said, "May she play all musical instruments beautifully!". Next it was the old fairy's turn and she bent over the child "May you have your hand pierced with a spindle and die of the wound!" When she said her terrible spell, she grinned showing her ugly yellow teeth. At that moment the wise fairy godmother, who had been hiding behind the curtains, came out and said, "Calm down everyone! The princess won't die, but she will fall in a deep and long sleep, which will last for a hundred years, and when that period ends, a young prince will come and wake her up." When she saw that she was tricked, the old woman ran away crying because she couldn't do any more harm.

To avoid her daughter piercing her finger, the king went out and ordered that all women who owned or used a spindle to be killed.

Fifteen or sixteen years passed and nothing happened. But one day the young princess was wandering around the castle and noticed something very curious while climbing up the tower. In a small room there was an old lady, spinning her spindle. "What are you doing madam?" the princess asked and the old woman replied, "I am spinning, your highness." The princess found the activity really interesting and decided to try it. But as soon as she took the spindle, the end pierced the princess's finger and she fainted on the floor. The old lady cried for help. In a moment help came and they tried to revive her. Someone sprinkled her face with water, another loosened her clothes, a third massaged her arms, but despite all this the princess lay still. The king arrived and at the sight of his daughter, he remembered the old fairy godmother's spell. The time had come and the king ordered the princess to be laid on a bed embroidered with gold and silver. As she slept, her beauty remained vivid and she looked like an angel.

The farsighted fairy godmother that had saved the girl's life was told what had happened. She rushed to reach the kingdom as fast as possible, because she was twelve thousand miles away. When she arrived the king helped her out of her magic coach. When the fairy godmother saw what had been done by the time she arrived, she was impressed. However, the thought of the princess waking up a hundred years later, surrounded by people she didn't know terrified the fairy, and so she put everyone in the kingdom into a deep sleep. Nannies, servants, noblemen, butlers, soldiers and even the princess's small puppy went to sleep. Then the king and the queen wiped their tears away, kissed their child and gave the orders that no one should approach the castle. In less than fifteen minutes thick and dark woods and bushes grew before the eyes of the king and the queen. No one could see the castle and even if they saw it no one would have the courage to enter.

The years passed and the king and the queen passed away. The kingdom was still and not a single sound could be heard from its halls and chambers. The princess was still sleeping. One day, a hundred years later, a young prince was passing by the enchanted wood when he suddenly saw something he had never seen before - through the trees he could see the towers. He asked a passer-by what they were.

"I am not sure, my lord, but I remember that my father once told me a story about the most beautiful princess in the world, who was cursed to fall into a deep sleep for a hundred years. One prince has been chosen to be the only one who can wake her up."

At the news the brave prince went into the woods and fought for a long time with branches and roots. As soon as he got past one tree, the woods would close up behind him. He found this scary but spurred himself on with the thought that he might be the chosen prince from the story.

The prince finally reached the castle. He was shocked to see people sleeping everywhere! Judging by their clothes, they had been there for a century! He didn't give up and started searching the rooms one after another until he finally found her. A fifteen or sixteen-year old princess was lying in a bed. The prince went to the bed and kissed the princess. She opened her beautiful eyes and smiled at him. "I have been waiting for you to come," she said, "What took you so long?"

Everyone else in the kingdom woke up at the same time. They all went back to work. The prince and the princess organised a lavish wedding and invited the whole kingdom to it. There was food and drinks for everyone. The brave prince married the beautiful princess and they both lived happily ever after.
